
What is a Zero EOF CE capillary mostly used for?

There are many uses for Zero EOF in HPCE. One use is to allow analytes to separate based on electrophoretic mobility only. The Zero EOF capillary is an excellent choice for this technique because, regardless of the pH you use to ionize your analytes, the flow will still be zero. Another use is cIEF.

Click here to view Zero and Controlled flow capillaries for CE