

What is the best way to regain flow in the capillary if I allowed it to dry out overnight - FAQ

The best way to regain flow is to remove 1 or 2mm of each end of the capillary. Then gently force methanol through the capillary using a syringe pump.

Click here to view a convenient hand pump for this purpose.