

Are the AQ brand of nylon syringe filters suitable for sterile filtration - FAQ

The AQ™ syringe filters are not designed for sterile filtration.

Their primary intended function is to remove particulate matter from a sample to be injected into and protect an HPLC instrument and the HPLC column.

Click HERE for ordering information and pictures of AQ™ brand syringe filters