

---

What is the difference between related pharmaceutical compounds and impurities?

Related compounds encompass all process-related substances as well as degradants that may be formed. Hence, impurities are a subset of related compounds.

That is, all impurities are related compounds but not all related compounds are impurities.